WELCOME TO BLUE STONE

At Stone, our mission is to make institutional-grade financial products and services available to everyone.

We believe that blockchain technology has the potential to improve both the infrastructure of — and access to — financial products and services.

We also believe that the best technical improvements need to be combined with the best practices from traditional finance, including investor protections, transparency in reporting, legal and regulatory compliance, intelligent and robust product structuring, working with the best service providers, and top-notch client service.

WHAT WE BELIEVE

Despite its incredible power, today's traditional financial system still suffers from significant limitations: high fees, walled gardens, and limited access for billions of people around the globe. At Blue Stone, we believe that blockchain technology has the power to solve these issues. We design institutional-grade platforms, assets, and infrastructure to bring financial markets on chain. We believe that combining the best of TradFi with the best of DeFi will dramatically improve our financial system—making it fairer, faster, and more accessible to all.

ABOUT The Blue Stone

At The Blue Stone, we know that legal and regulatory compliance is a critical pillar of tokenized real-world-asset offerings. We take a thorough and measured approach to risk management in general, with a compliance-oriented product design that is rooted in consultation with a variety of legal, tax, and regulatory experts.²⁶

PRODUCT

To get started with our products, simply browse the list of available funds on our website or listed here in these docs. You'll be able to find detailed information, including what assets underlie each, how they work, expected yields and risks, eligibility requirements, and much more. When you find a product you like, once you onboard you can invest by connecting your wallet and depositing stablecoins (or, in some cases, wiring USD). When you wish to redeem your tokens for stablecoins (or USD), you can request a redemption. How long it takes to redeem your tokens depends on the particular product.

INSTITUTIONAL PARTNERS

Even within TradFi, setting up and operating any given fund involves many parties, such as asset managers, custodians, fund administrators, counterparties, lawyers, and more. And that list only gets bigger in onchain finance, particularly when connecting onchain capital to off-chain assets. Simply put, partners matter.

At Bluestoe, we work with only the most reputable, well-established partners across all functions. For instance, with Stone (Stone Short-Term US Government Treasuries), the USDC you invest is exchanged for USD by Coinbase, one of the leading crypto asset custodians. Furthermore, over 99.5% of the Fund's assets are currently invested in the BlackRock USD Institutional Digital Liquidity Fund (BUIDL), managed and sponsored by BlackRock, one of the world's preeminent asset management firms and a premier provider of investment management services. BUIDL's assets are custodied at BNY Mellon, a Systemically Important Bank which oversees nearly $50 trillion in assets for their clients. Additionally, US Treasuries - the primary underlying assets of BUIDL - are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States government, and largely considered to be one of the lowest-risk assets in the world.

For all of our products, the principle is the same: high quality institutional partners, always.

PROTOCOLS

“The protocols we create are set up to eventually run independently from Bluestone. Each protocol has its own separate web app interface on a different web domain governed by a separate entity not controlled by Bluestone. When you click on any of the protocols, therefore, you'll notice they open in a different browser window/tab, managed by external parties. The details of any individual protocol can be found on the appropriate site.
